Stockholm City chooses Addnode Group's work place and facility management solution

Stockholm, January 29, 2018

Stockholm City, one of Sweden's largest property owners, chooses Symetri, a subsidiary of Addnode Group, as a partner for new IT support for the property office. The contract is valid for six years to an initial value of SEK 17.5 million with option for a nine-year extension.

Based on Symetris concept, Symetri Efficient Facility IWMS, which combines traditional facility management systems with workplace services, graphical visualization of building models and document management, the city of Stockholm gets a good support for business processes in a common solution.

With a lifecycle perspective, we ensure the quality and increase accessibility to information in the daily processes and in information deliveries between construction projects and facility management.

- We are very pleased and proud that the city of Stockholm has given us the confidence to deliver a comprehensive IWMS solution for their property and facility management. Our goal is to promote uninterrupted flow of information through the entire life cycle of the built environment, quality assurance of information about the business processes and make all building information accessible to employees wherever the work is done, says Rolf Kjærnsli, President of Addnode Group Design Management.
